Policy Statement

1.0 Introduction

The YWCHSB is responsible for safeguarding the integrity and viability of the workers' compensation system, while recognizing the collective liability of employers for workplace disabilities. The YWCHSB will ensure that its obligations to workers and employers are met through efficient, appropriate and fair decisions.

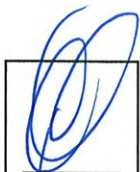

An Investigation Unit has been established to conduct and co-ordinate the YWCHSB's investigation activities. The Investigation Unit's primary objective is to gather accurate and relevant primary information in a timely manner. This information will be used to facilitate decision-making and improve customer service. Specifically, the Investigation Unit will work to:

- ensure compliance with all Acts and YWCHSB policies;
- improve the quality of YWCHSB decisions; and
- ensure the validity of assessment reporting, employer registration, claims for compensation and service provider billing.

2.0 Types of Investigation

1. Information for Decision Making

The investigation function works to improve the speed and thoroughness of decision-making in the areas of employer registration, case management, employer assessment, service provider payments and claims adjudication. The need for gathering additional information will be identified by an appropriate decision-maker, who will refer the issue to the

Chair

Investigations Unit. A report will be provided to the decision-maker and placed on the employer’s (or claimant’s or service provider’s) file once the relevant information has been gathered. The focus of this investigative role is to gather accurate and relevant primary information and improve customer service.

2. Investigation of Alleged Violations of the Workers’ Compensation Act, the Occupational Health & Safety Act or Policy.

The Investigation Unit may assist a decision-maker in gathering information to ensure that all employers, service providers, injured workers and staff are meeting the requirements of the Acts and related policies. When an investigation is concluded, a report shall be provided to the appropriate decision-maker and General Counsel. The consequences associated with violating legislation or policy will be determined by the appropriate internal authority, based on the provisions of the applicable Act, regulation, Board Order and policies.

3. Investigation of Alleged Fraud

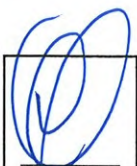

Fraud investigations ensure that:

- service providers appropriately bill for products and services rendered to the YWCHSB;
- all employers pay fairly into the Compensation Fund;
- YWCHSB staff act in accordance with the terms and conditions of their employment; and that
- workers and employers receive the benefits and services to which they are entitled to under the Act.

The Investigation Unit will investigate each allegation of fraud made against staff, providers, employers, workers or members of the Board of Directors. These allegations may be made known through internal referral, external identification or through the work of the Unit itself, in accordance with Policy GC-06, “Fraud”.

The first step in an investigation is to refer the file to the appropriate decision-maker in order to determine whether the reported activity or information warrants investigation.

Once the investigation is complete, General Counsel will review the investigation file and shall, in consultation with the President/CEO, determine whether to pursue a remedy through a criminal or administrative process.

Chair

This determination is made on the basis of the evidence at hand and in accordance with Policy GC-06, “Fraud”. The individual(s) affected will be presented with the outcome in order to ensure an accurate understanding of the facts related to the matter.

3.0 Documentation

Potential fraud investigation reports will not be placed on the claimant, employer, service provider, staff personnel or Board of Director’s file unless requested by the individual. However, the investigation report would be viewable by the individual if requested. If it is determined that an investigation report must become part of the permanent record, the party under investigation will be notified in writing and given an opportunity to respond.

4.0 Investigation Techniques

Investigators must conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times, operating both within the law and within the procedural standards established by the YWCHSB.

Investigation techniques will vary in accordance with the type of investigation required and the circumstances of each case. Investigation techniques may range from electronic searches and paper file review, to actual field work as determined by the President/CEO.

5.0 Reporting

The President/CEO shall report periodically to the Board of Directors on the activities of the Investigation Unit.
